Part II

no father, no tradition understood, no black ink, white ink, this time around no ancient hands to guide us down just the sun into darkness whisper and sing with our private god and he takes the blood from our hands open places in the pavement computer runs this key to this world

it will rain this time
it will rain
this time it will rain

home is a hand, home is a metaphor a maze of observation and protection from which we emerge half grown into this land of both here we kneel alone in kneeling silence to kiss the feet of the dreamer but he laughs at us with pain he spins upon our grave

it will rain this time

give us a doll to play with show us a friendly smile console us with a dream it's frightening to drown alone as we search for our past in reflections but the mirrors are cracked and dirty we see only our collective bloodshed and we read the stains they left us that it will rain this time

PROTEST AND PROGRESS

It may come as a shock to some Hippies, but living in disregard of conventions while pursuing art and intellectualism is older than antimacassars. Hippies even look like old-time Bohemians.

Also (they may be disgruntled to learn), there's nothing unrespectable about protest against society. Plato taught, in the 5th Century B.C., that man can move toward the highest good by constant questioning of assumptions. His Republic, a plan for a new social order, was followed a thousand years later by St. Augustine's City of God . . . and a thousand years after that by Sir Thomas More's Utopia (1516), Campanella's City of the Sun (1623), Bacon's The New Atlantis (1627), and Harrington's Oceana (1656).

For putting such theory into practice, America is unmatched. The Great Seal of the United States—on every dollar bill—proclaims a New Order of the Ages, Novus Ordo Seclorum. No sooner was the Great Experiment launched, than the land sprouted with little experiments—agrarian communal colonies from Texas to Massachusetts. These petered out, one way or another. Yet some of the ideas have influenced our culture and world society.

What changes the social order most radically is not revolt against society, but practical invention—moveable type, the steam engine, electric light, the automobile, the corporation, radio, advertising, credit buying, the helicopter, computers, nuclear fuel, antibiotics. Billions invested by industry in research and development are accelerating changes.

Both protest and progress stem from discontent with things as they are. But progress happens—undramatically—the result of many small, practical improvements. That's why the world you inherit will not be like the past, but shaped by an emerging New Social Order.

FACULTY AND ADMINISTRATION

she picks you up tomorrow though it should have been today but you know it doesn't matter because the world is still the same because yesterday has told you that the world is still the same and you don't know where you're going because you can't tell where you've been and you can't tell how you're feeling because you don't know what you've seen ...
